

Maritime Security Asia 2004 International Conference

Date: 12 November 2004

Venue: Shangri-La Hotel, Singapore

Maritime Security Asia (MSA) 2004 International Conference was held at The Shangri-La Hotel on 12 Nov 2004. The objective of the event is to bring together regional military and paramilitary organisations and agencies and the shipping community, providing an avenue to enhance multi-agency integration and forge greater multilateral cooperation.

Participants found the Conference well organised and informative and saw it as a professional forum to discuss new technologies, regulations, policies etc with various interest groups. The Conference achieved its objectives in providing up-to-date information and also promoting interaction between key personnel in Regulatory Bodies, Enforcement Agencies, Shipping Companies and Defence Industry Leaders.

The event was well supported by Government Organisations, the Military and the International Defence Community and saw a total of 135 delegates attending and 11 papers being presented.
